4. List of Issues Submitted to Ireland in May 2008

HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE
Ninety-second session
New York, 17 March - 4 April 2008

LIST OF ISSUES TO BE TAKEN UP IN CONNECTION WITH THE CONSIDERATION OF THE THIRD PERIODIC REPORT OF IRELAND (CCPR/C/IRL/3)

Constitutional and legal framework within which the Covenant and the Optional Protocol are implemented (art.2)

1. Please indicate whether the State party intends to incorporate the Covenant into its domestic legislation (previous concluding observations of the Human Rights Committee, A/55/40 (vol.1), paras. 432-433). Please also indicate if there have been any cases in which the Covenant has been applied or used as an aid to interpret domestic law by the courts.
2. Please indicate whether new factors have emerged since the submission of the third periodic report that would enable Ireland to envisage a withdrawal of its reservations to article 10 paragraph 2, article 14, article 19, paragraph 2, and article 20, paragraph 1 (see A/55/40 (vol.1), para. 450 (a) and CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 215-218, 334-337)?
3. Please provide further information as to how the State party has addressed the recommendations contained in the Committee's previous concluding observations.

Non-discrimination and equal rights of women and men (arts. 2, 3, 26)

4. Please indicate what measures have been adopted to address the reported gaps in the protection of women from domestic violence, in particular the continuing impunity, the under-funding of services for victims, and the lack of public education initiatives. Please provide recent statistics on violence against women, including the rates of prosecution and conviction, and the average sentences and penalties, as well as compensation to the victims.
5. Please indicate whether there has been any progress regarding a change to Article 41.2 of the Constitution since the submission of the Committee's previous concluding observations (A/55/40 (vol. 1), paras. 441-442). Please provide further information on the National Women's Strategy. The Committee is particularly interested in the steps taken to ensure its implementation and whether these measures have subsequently been subject to evaluation (CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 110-112).
6. Please indicate whether the State party intends to introduce legislation aimed at the recognition of same-sex partnerships or other non-married relationships, as well as a legal mechanism permitting transgender persons to change their gender.

Counter-terrorism measures and respect of Covenant guarantees

7. Please provide further information on the compatibility of counter-terrorism related laws in the State party with the Covenant (see CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 382-389). Information should indicate, inter alia, whether legislation includes a definition of terrorism and any derogation from ordinary law stipulated in existing or proposed counter-terrorism legislation. Please indicate how the State party addresses concerns about the use of Irish airspace and airports for so-called renditions. Does the State party continue to accept diplomatic assurances in that regard? Does the State party intend to initiate a public inquiry into renditions?

Derogation (art.4)

8. Please provide information on the enactment of any constitutional or other legislative measures designed to restrict derogations only to those permissible under Article 4 of the Covenant (A/55/40 (vol. 1), para. 440).

Right to life (art. 6)

9. Please indicate what measures have been taken following the referendum on abortion. Please also provide information on the steps taken to make sure that women are not compelled to continue pregnancies where these are incompatible with obligations arising under article 6 of the Covenant and the Committee's general comment No. 28 (2000) on article 3 (The equality of rights between men and women) (see CCPR/C/IRL/3, para. 132, 138 and A/55/40 (vol. 1), paras. 444-445).

Prohibition of torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment, and prohibition of slavery, security of the person and the right not to be subjected to arbitrary detention, and treatment of detainees (arts. 7, 8, 9, 10)

10. Please provide further information on the newly established Garda Síochána Ombudsman Commission, in particular on the steps taken to guarantee its independence (CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 158-161). If available, please provide detailed information on the number and nature of complaints against members of the Garda Síochána that have so far been dealt with by the Commission and their outcome (A/55/40 (vol. 1), para. 434-435). Have allegations of ill-treatment decreased since the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (CPT) visited the State Party in October 2006? Please also indicate whether audio-video recording is now mandatory for all interrogations at Garda stations. What measures have been taken to ensure that judges and prosecutors respond appropriately to allegations of police ill-treatment? Does the State party intend to modify its practice of not permitting lawyers to be present during police interviews?

11. Please indicate whether the 2006 Prisons Bill has been enacted and if so, please provide further information on how it improves the conditions of detention. In light of the fact that the construction of new detention facilities has yet to be completed, how does the State party address the most serious problems of the present regime, in particular the overcrowding and "slopping out procedure" (A/55/40 (vol. 1), para. 446)? Does the State party consider alternative sanctions to detention and if so, which ones?

12. While the legislation on human trafficking mainly addresses this issue from a criminal law angle, please provide further information on other measures and programmes carried out by the State party to assist the victims of human trafficking. Please specify the legal provisions regarding the protection of victims of trafficking.

13. As the maximum detention period for asylum applicants has been increased through the Immigration Act, 2003, in order to relieve the resource constraints of the courts and the Garda Síochána, does the State party intend to increase this budget in the future? Please provide further information on how the detention facilities for asylum seekers fully comply with the provisions of the Covenant (CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 195-202).

Imprisonment for failure to fulfil a contractual obligation (art. 11)

14. Are any steps being taken by the State party to repeal the provisions of the legislation permitting imprisonment for failure to fulfil a contractual obligation?

Expulsion of aliens and right to a fair trial (arts. 13, 14)

15. Please explain the compatibility of the Immigration, Residence and Protection Bill of 2007 with the Covenant, in particular the power of the State party to arrest, detain and remove any person who is unlawfully on the State territory without advance notice and without the possibility to make representations within 14 days (Sections 5, 51 and 52 of the bill).

16. Please provide information regarding the Nationality and Citizenship Act 2004 and the Supreme Court ruling, which reportedly makes it possible that the non-Irish parents of an Irish child may not be entitled to reside in Ireland or may even be deported.

17. Please explain under what circumstances the State party could envisage ending the jurisdiction of the Special Criminal Court (A/55/40 (vol. 1), para. 436-437), in light of, inter alia, the Committee's Views regarding Communication no. 819/1998 (Joseph Kavanagh v. Ireland). Please also provide further information as to why the Government considers it necessary to be able to establish additional special courts (CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 343-381).

18. Please indicate whether the State party has taken any steps to address the backlog of cases under the Civil Legal Aid Scheme. Please also indicate what measures are being taken by the State party to ensure that those who need civil legal aid will receive it following a test regarding the person's ability to have a fair hearing, without regard to the category of civil law or type of court or tribunal involved (CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 395-396)?

Freedom of religion (art. 18)

19. Please indicate whether the State party has taken any steps to initiate a review of the constitutional provision requiring judges to make a declaration with religious references (A/55/40 (vol. 1), para. 450 (b)).

Rights of minorities (arts. 26, 27)

20. Please provide more information on how the recommendations issued by the High Level Group on Traveller's Issues and the related projects have effectively improved the situation of the Traveller community, especially with regard to their low standard of living, as well as their participation in political life. Furthermore, please provide more detailed information on how the State party addresses the issue of low achievements in school by a majority of Traveller children and the low employment level of members of the Traveller community (A/55/40 (vol. 1), para. 448-449 and CCPR/C/IRL/3, paras. 597-601).

21. Please provide detailed information on measures taken to ensure adequate opportunities for children of minorities to receive instruction in and about their language, religion, and culture.

Dissemination of information relating to the Covenant and the Optional Protocol (art.2)

22. Please provide more detailed information on the steps taken to disseminate information on the Covenant and on the submission of the present report, as well as on the involvement of representatives of civil society and of minority groups in the preparatory process.

5. Concluding Observations of the HRC on Ireland's Second Periodic Report Under the CCPR (24/07/2000)

1. The Committee examined the second periodic report of Ireland (CCPR/C/IRL/98/2) at its 1846th, 1847th and 1848th meetings (CCPR/C/SR.1846-1848), held on 13, 14 and 15 July 2000, respectively. At its 1858th meeting, on 21 July 2000, the Committee adopted the following concluding observations.

1. Introduction

2. The Committee appreciated the high quality of the report of Ireland, which was comprehensive, responded to the concluding observations made by the Committee after the examination of the initial report and generally conformed with the Committee's guidelines for the preparation of States parties reports. The Committee also appreciated the additional oral and written information provided by the State party delegation during the examination of the report; this information was highly instructive and enhanced the dialogue between the Committee and the delegation. Furthermore, the Committee welcomed the publication and wide dissemination of the report by the Government and its willingness to involve non-governmental organizations in the process.

3. Recalling its earlier comments, the Committee notes with satisfaction that the problems of terrorism have diminished and that, despite the problems experienced, the State party has maintained its democratic institutions and respect for the rule of law.

2. Positive aspects

4. The Committee notes with appreciation the increased use of the Covenant by the courts as an aid to the interpretation of common law and constitutional rights, and the withdrawal of several reservations made upon ratification of the Covenant.

5. The Committee welcomes the fact that the recently enacted Human Rights Commission Act provides for the establishment of a Human Rights Commission.

6. The Committee welcomes the establishment in 1997 of the Standing Interdepartmental Committee on Human Rights, which is mandated to consider all aspects of Ireland's international human rights obligations, including the preparation of reports due under human rights treaties, as well as the Joint Department of Foreign Affairs/Non-Governmental Organizations Standing Committee on Human Rights. It further welcomes the operation of the Constitution Review Group, which is reviewing the 1937 Constitution with a view to proposing reforms necessary to bring it in line, inter alia, with international human rights standards.

7. The Committee expresses satisfaction that the state of emergency declared in 1976 was ended in 1995 and that the Emergency Powers Act of 1976 has now lapsed.

8. The Committee welcomes the Child Trafficking and Pornography Act 1998 and the Sexual Offenders (Jurisdiction) Act 1996, which allows prosecution in respect of offences committed outside Ireland. It also notes with satisfaction the abolition of corporal punishment in public and private schools.

9. The Committee notes with satisfaction the enactment of the Family Law (Divorce) Bill 1996, the Freedom of Information Act of 1997, and the Civil Legal Aid Act of 1995 by which legal services are provided to persons of modest means at little or no cost through legal centres based throughout the country.

10. The Committee welcomes the initiatives being undertaken in the area of human rights education, including education for primary and secondary students, members of the police (Garda) and the legal profession.

3. Principal subjects of concern and recommendations

11. The Committee expresses continuing concern that not all Covenant rights are guaranteed in the domestic law of the State party. The consequent lack of domestic recourse will limit the power of the proposed Human Rights Commission to take action in the courts to enforce those rights not covered.

12. The State party should ensure that all Covenant rights and freedoms are guaranteed and that effective remedies are available to any person whose rights or freedoms are violated, in accordance with article 2 of the Covenant.

13. While it welcomes the existence of a mechanism to investigate complaints made against the police force, namely the Garda Complaints Board, the Committee regrets that the Board is not fully independent, in that investigations of complaints against the Garda are often entrusted to members of the Garda without consultation with the Board. It emphasizes that the availability of recourse to the courts to address allegedly unlawful conduct by the police does not displace the need for independent and transparent investigation of allegations of abuse.

14. The Committee recommends that, in the context of its current review of the Garda Complaints Act of 1986, the State party take steps to ensure that the Garda Complaints Board is not dependent on the Garda for the conduct of investigations. Consideration should be given to the establishment of a police ombudsman. In the case of death resulting from action by members of the Garda, the State party should ensure that allegations are investigated by an independent and public process.

15. The law establishing the Special Criminal Court does not specify clearly the cases which are to be assigned to that Court but leaves it to the broadly defined discretion of the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP). The Committee is also concerned at the continuing operation of the Offences Against the State Act, that the periods of detention without charge under the Act have been increased, that persons may be arrested on suspicion of being about to commit an offence, and that the majority of persons arrested are never charged with an offence. It is concerned that, in circumstances covered by the Act, failure to respond to questions may constitute evidence supporting the offence of belonging to a prohibited organization. The application of the Act raises problems of compatibility with articles 9 and 14, paragraph 3 (g), of the Covenant. The Committee regrets that legal assistance and advice may not be available until a person has been charged.

16. Steps should be taken to end the jurisdiction of the Special Criminal Court and to ensure that all criminal procedures are brought into compliance with articles 9 and 14 of the Covenant.

17. The Committee expresses concern that the seven-day period of detention without charge under the Drug Trafficking Act raises issues of compatibility with article 9, paragraph 1. It is also concerned that legal aid is not available to detainees between arrest and charge and does not extend to visits to persons in detention.

18. The State party should ensure that all aspects of detention, including the period of detention and availability of legal aid, are administered in full compliance with article 9 of the Covenant.

19. The Committee recommends that the review of the Constitution should take fully into account the obligations of the State party under article 4 of the Covenant, particularly in regard to permitted derogations.

20. While noting the many advances that have been made in regard to the participation of women in all aspects of political, social and economic life, the Committee is concerned at the continuing inequalities faced by women in Ireland, which are reflected in the under-representation of women in certain occupations and in political life and in the generally lower salaries paid to women as compared with men. The Committee is also concerned that the references to women made in article 41 (para. 2) of the Constitution could perpetuate traditional attitudes toward the role of women. In that provision, the State "recognizes that by her life within the home, woman gives to the State a support without which the common good cannot be achieved. The State shall, therefore, endeavour to ensure that mothers shall not be obliged by economic necessity to engage in labour to the neglect of their duties in the home".

21. The Committee urges the State party to intensify its efforts to ensure equality of women in all spheres, particularly in public and political life and in decision-making bodies, in accordance with articles 3 and 26 of the Covenant. It encourages the State party to strengthen its efforts to monitor the situation of women by collecting gender-disaggregated data in these spheres and by "gender-proofing" all draft legislation to ensure neutrality.

22. The Committee is concerned that exemptions under the Employment Equality Act, which allow religious bodies directing hospitals and schools to discriminate in certain circumstances on the ground of religion in employing persons whose functions are not religious, may result in discrimination contrary to article 26 of the Covenant.

23. The Committee is concerned that the circumstances in which women may lawfully obtain an abortion are restricted to when the life of the mother is in danger and do not include, for example, situations where the pregnancy is the result of rape.

24. The State party should ensure that women are not compelled to continue with pregnancies where that is incompatible with obligations arising under the Covenant (art. 7) and General Comment No. 28.

25. While the Committee notes the many improvements in prison conditions, it recommends that further efforts be made to ensure that all prisons and detention centres are brought up to the minimum standards required to ensure respect for the human dignity of detainees and to avoid overcrowding, in accordance with article 10. The Independent Prison Authority, whose establishment is envisaged in a current bill, should have power and resources to deal with complaints of abuse made by prisoners.

26. In regard to proposed changes to the law regarding asylum-seekers, the State party should ensure that the grounds on which detention may be authorized and the right of access to judicial review of detention decisions are in full conformity with the provisions of article 9 of the Covenant. It should also ensure that requirements relating to the place of residence of refugees do not infringe the rights to liberty of movement protected under article 12.

27. With respect to the Travelling community, the Committee continues to be concerned about the generally lower living standards of members of this community, their low levels of participation in national political and social life and their high levels of maternal and infant mortality.

28. The State party is urged to continue its efforts to take positive action to overcome discrimination and to ensure the equal enjoyment of rights by members of the Travelling community and in particular to improve their access to health, education and welfare services, including accommodation, and their participation in political and public life. The State should also pursue actively programmes to change attitudes and to promote understanding between the Travelling and the settled communities (arts. 26, 27).

29. The Committee recommends that further action be taken to ensure full implementation of the Covenant in these matters:

- (a) Withdrawal of the remaining reservations to the Covenant;
- (b) Reform of constitutional provisions requiring judges to make a declaration with religious references (art. 18);
- (c) Provision for prompt review of detention on mental health grounds, i.e. within a few days (art. 9);
- (d) Repeal or reform of discriminatory aspects of legislation requiring the registration of alien husbands of Irish women citizens, which is not required of alien wives of Irish male citizens (arts. 3, 26);
- (e) Ensuring the full and equal enjoyment of Covenant rights by disabled persons, without discrimination, in accordance with article 26; and
- (f) Improving remedies for victims of domestic violence.

4. Dissemination of information about the Covenant (art. 2)

30. The Committee requests that the third periodic report be submitted by 31 July 2005. That report should be prepared in accordance with the revised guidelines adopted by the Committee and should give particular attention to the issues raised in the present concluding observations. The Committee requests that these concluding observations and the next periodic report be widely disseminated in the territory of the State party.

Prafullachandra Natwarlal BHAGWATI (India)

Justice P.N. Bhagwati is one of the most distinguished jurists of India since the independence of that country. He presided over the Supreme Court of India as its Chief Justice until his retirement. Under his leadership the Indian Supreme Court has developed comprehensive human rights jurisprudence for India. He, through creative interpretation, expanded the reach and context of human rights embodied in the Constitution. He developed the strategy of Public Interest Litigation with a view to making human rights meaningful for the large masses of poor and disadvantaged people. This is a strategy, which has won admiration in many common law jurisdictions.

He is closely connected with a large number of NGOs, both in India and outside, and has been motivating and inspiring grassroots human rights and development NGOs. Justice Bhagwati is the Chairman of the South Asian Task Force on Judiciary. He is Vice-Chairman of El Taller, an International Human Rights Development Organization located in Tunis. He has organized a number of judicial colloquia in different parts of the Commonwealth on "Domestic Application of International Human Rights norms" for judges in the Commonwealth. He has also promoted and participated in numerous workshops of lawyers and judges on the subject of human rights organized by NGOs and was Chairman of the World Congress on Human Rights held in New Delhi in December 1990.

He has been a member of the Committee of Experts of the ILO for over 15 years. For over 6 years he was the Vice-Chairman of the United Nations Human Rights Committee, and he is now elected as the Chairman. The United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights has taken him as Regional Adviser for the Asia Pacific Region. He has also carried out several missions for the United Nations Centre for Human Rights, the Commonwealth Secretariat, and the International Commission of Jurists. His services have been utilized by several countries, including Mongolia, Cambodia, Nepal, Ethiopia, and South Africa in framing their Constitutions and particularly the chapters on human rights. He was a member of the Goldstone Commission of inquiry in South Africa. He was also involved in finalizing the draft manual for training of judges in human rights prepared by the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights.

Justice Bhagwati has been particularly active in the area of women's human rights. He has been the moderator and the main resource person for at least three judicial workshops of women judges for domestic application of international human rights norms in the jurisprudence of women's human rights, one in Victoria Falls for African judges, the other in Hong Kong for Asia Pacific judges and the third in Guyana for Caribbean judges. He presided over the Peoples Tribunal for Violence against Women at the Vienna Human Rights congress. This Tribunal was organized by International Women NGOs.

He has been responsible for a considerable amount of work in the field of human rights and development among tribes and particularly tribal women in South and East India and has provided leadership to the NGO, AWARE, in making 6,000 villages self-reliant. Two large complexes in rural areas have been named after him. He is a household name amongst the poor and underprivileged sectors of Indian society.

Justice P.N. Bhagwati was responsible for making a large number of innovations with a view to providing access to justice to the poor and disadvantaged. He enlarged the doctrine of locus standi before the Supreme Court and the High Courts for vindicating the individual and collective rights of those who were denied access to justice on account of poverty or social or economic disability.

He at the same time worked successfully to build up an elaborate legal aid programme. He is widely regarded as the originator of India's legal aid programme, including setting up of legal aid camps in rural areas, working with NGOs, establishing legal aid clinics etc.

Numerous documentaries have been made on him and his work including one where he is one of six outstanding Indians on whose life the Indian TV has done a profile. He has been the most visible member of India's Judiciary since independence. His reputation and his impact, through his judicial and legal aid work, is so enormous that the public response has been quite phenomenal, e.g., a village where the tribal people benefited from his judgment, renamed the village after him calling it BHAGWATI PURAM.

He has championed the cause of workers and labourers. His thought provoking judgments on bonded and unorganized labour and child labour have resulted in various legislations and government schemes in improving their social and economic conditions. He is also involved in the programme of sustainable development and has been responsible for developing poverty jurisprudence in India.

His services have been availed of by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. He is the Chairman of Eminent Persons Group for Study of questions relating to refugees. He is also Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Centre for Independence of Judges and Lawyers (CIJL) based in Geneva and as such he is associated with many of the activities of the International Commission of Jurists, Geneva.

He has also been a member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague for the last several years. He was also a member of the International Mediation Team with Henry Kissinger and Lord Carrington for mediation between Inkatha and ANC before the elections in South Africa.

He is presently Chairman of the Human Rights Committee under the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights of the United Nations. He is also the Regional Adviser to the High Commissioner for Human Rights for the entire Asia and Pacific Region. He is also a Member of the International Advisory Council of the World Bank for Legal and Judicial Reforms. He is also the Honorary Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

He is Chancellor of the Hyderabad University.

He is also Chancellor of Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri Rashtriya Sanskrit Vidyapeeth.

He is also the Honorary Member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.
